The Jary Find him Guilty of Murder in the

When John Carpenter, the wife murderer awoke yesterday morning in the Tombs prison he was in a high fever. He said, however, that he was well enough to go to court, and the deputy sheriffs took him there in a horse car. In court he seemed to be very ill. He coughed frequently, and pressed his hand to his left side with indications of pain. Every seat in the court was occupied. Lawyer Stephen S. Blake made the closing speech for the defence. He said it was admitted that Carpenter killed his wife, and he asserted that the evidence showed that he was insane when he did it. Assistant District Attorney John R. Fellows closed for the prosecution. He argued that the murder was the act of a brutal but same man, in pursuance of a long premeditated plan. It was true that he had been counsel for Carpenter when he was arraigned for stabbing another woman by mistake for his wife. He had pleaded guilty for Carpenter, as he had found no possible defence, and yet there was as much reason for the defence of insanity then as now. If Carpenter should be acquitted on the ground of insanity he would be sent to the asylum on ward's island, to be confined until sane, and Dr. Macionaid, the Superintendent of that asylum, had already sworn that he was sane.

Carpenter was very uneasy during Mr. Fellows's speech. He shifted his position constantly, and seemed much distressed.

In charging the jury Judge Barrett said:

There are many loss notions about insanity. Some when he was arraigned for stabbing another

Judge Barrett charged every request made y the defence except that the prisoner was in-ocent if he had acted under an uncontrollable nocent if he had acted under an uncontrollable impulse.

The jury retired at 3:40. Carpenter brightened up, talked with the Sheriff, and seemed to have received new life. The jurg were out ten minutes, and then came in with a verdict that the prisoner was guilty of murder in the first degree. Carpenter bit his lips furiously.

Lawyor Blake moved for a new trial, on the ground that the verdict was against the weight of evidence and on the exceptions taken. Judge Barrett deniel the motion, and said he would sentence Carpenter on Friday morning.

said he would sentence Carpenter on Friday morning.

Carpenter talked with the Sheriff and said to a friend; "There was no crime in what I did," He was handcuffed to a deputy sheriff, and on the way out of the Court House stopped to shake hands with a gentieman who recognized him. He was taken back to the Tombs.

The main exception on which his counsel rely is that Judge Barrett refused to allow them to challenge a juror peremptorily after he had been sworn in and the panel was completed.

BROT IN A SALOUN BRAWL.

William Kelly Expected to Die from the Wound Martin Tierney Inflicted, Two policemen were standing on the corner of Thirty-fourth street and Third avenue early yesterday, when a man came staggering along. When he saw the policemen he clasped his hands to his body, and said: "Say, I'm shot, I'm going to die. Martin

Tierney was among them. All except Tierney were taken to the station, and he was taken to Bellevue Hospital, where the wounded man was, for identification. The latter had given his name as Wm. Kelly of 301 East Thirty-fifth street. Upon seeing his assaliant he immediately became greatly excited. "You dirty sneak!" he cried, "you shot me without cause. You murderer. That's the man that shot me."

man that shot me."

Tierney was taken to the station and locked up. He said he was a back driver, 24 years old, and lived at 170 East Thirty-second street.

"We went into the saloon about 3 A. M." he said. "We all got pretty full, and began wrestling. Kelly was in an ugly mood. He struck me in the face, and when I resisted him two friends of his helped him. They drove me in a corner, and I shot him in self-defence."

The other eight men were Patrick O'Toole, the bartender; John Hughes, William Lelmbeck, John A. Schenk, Jeremiah Lyons, John McCabe, John Shandier, and Richard McKeon. The last three were charged with intoxication and disorderly conduct, and the others were held as witnesses. In the Yorkvillo Court yesterday Tierney was held without bail. A certificate from the house surgeon at Bellevue said that Kelly's recovery was very doubtful. O'Toole, the bartender, asserted that the crowd had entered by foreing the door. McCabe, Bhandley, and Mickeon were held in $1,000 each for their good behavior for three months. The others were sent to the House of Detention in default of $1,000 bail each.

Mary Helped Catch the Burglar.

Mrs. Annie Hunter, wife of Prof. Thomas Bunter, Fresident of the Normal College, on East Sixty-eighth street, was started by a disturbance in the base-ment of her residence, 140 East Eightieth atreet, yeaterday morning. She found her servant Mary shouting herself hourse and in danger of dislocating her shoulder in her attempts to get through the basement window. Hrs. Hunter ran out that the areas and saw a butcher's boy, a watchman, and a stranger trying to catch a young man who was dodring around. man who was dodging around posts and ash barrels in a wonderful manner. He fluidly jumped right into the arms of the men who were trying to catch him. He had in his possession several dozens of silver knives and forks belonging to Mrs. Hunter. He was taken to the Harlein Court, where he said he was John O Brien, significant of the Mrs. Proceedings of the Mrs. Seventh street. Justice White held him in $1.500 for trial.

The Wounds her Husband Infleted.

Margaret Carney, the little German dressmaker, who has been in Bellevus Hospital since the night of June 18, when her husband, Bernard, stabbed her, was taken to the Yorkville Court yes erday. Her face, neck, and arms were covered with bandages. She was pale, and seemed to be in mortal terror of her husband, who stood only a few feel away.
She testified in a trending toon that she met her husband at Avenue B and Fifteenth street. He held up his tick to hit her and she tried to run away. He caught her around the neck, saying: "Now, Fil kill you." Then he slashed her with his kinfe nike times.

The prisoner, who is bruist in appearance, denied the charge. He said he was a planter, living at 602 East Fifteenth sireet. He was held in $2,500 for trial.

Five Years for the Baron.

Max Von Stettin, lately of 18 East Third street, in January and February last obtained nearly $1,500 from R. Skipping New Brighton.

There are two steamboat lines running to the north shore of Staten Island, but only one of them touches at New Brighton. This line charges 10 cents a trip, while the other line charges 5 cents. It thus hapirip, while the other line charges 5 cents. It thus hap-pens that the New Rrighton people have to pay twice as much as other residents, and they don't like it. The States Island Rapid Transit Company owns the ferry franchise to New York, and no other line can touch at States Island except as a New Jersey ferry line. The opposition line, therefore, is compelled to touch at a few Jersey pier, which is some distance beyond New Brighton, before it can land at a States Island slip, and it would create too much delay to turn back. So they akip New Brighton and go on to the more distant points.

Hard-worked Broadway Drivers.

It was reported yesterday that there was to be a strike at noon of the drivers on the Broad-way street cars. At midday, however, the drivers were pulling and tugging at their horses as hard as ever.

Surrogate Hollins decided yesterday the in-mous will case of John Russell, the miser printer, whose Property, valued at about $40,000, has been contested for since his death by a variety of American and Eng-lish heirs. The surrogate decides in favor of James Rus-sell, the brother of the deceased, and the English heirs.

Not a Safe Place for the Recorder's Office. The Grand Jury made a presentment yesterday to the effect that the Stewart building to an unsafe place of deposit for the records and files of the Comptroller's office, not being fireproof, and that the Commissioners of the Sinking Found should provide a fireproof blace of safe keeping for them. Comptroller Loow and Commissioner Squire Combine to Defent ble Candidates. Mayor Grace, Comptroller Loew, and Com-nissioner of Public Works Squire met in the Mayor's office yesterday to appoint the Com-missioners who are to carry out the law passed missioners who are to carry out the law passed by the last Legislature for piacing the electric wires in this city, as far as practicable, under ground. Mayor Grace, at the opening of the meeting, submitted the names of Prof. Charles F. Chandler, Frank L. Pope, and John P. Townsend, Comptroller Loew submitted the names of Nicholas F. Palmer, Jr., Ferdinand Seeger, and Walter C. Stokes. There were no names formally submitted by Mr. Squire. Upon calling the roll the Mayor's candidates were all rejected by the combined votes of Comptroller Loew and Commissioner Squire. Then, on rejected by the combined votes of Comptroller Loew and Commissioner Squire. Then, on motion of Mr. Squire, in spite of the decided negative of Mayor Grace and by the votes of Mr. Squire and Comptroller, Loew Jacob Hess. Theodore Moss, and Charles E. Loew were chosen Commissioners.

Jacob Hess is the well-known ex-Commissioner of Charities and Correction, and the Republican leader of the Twenty-first Assembly district. He is said to be the candidate of Senator Barnum, the Chairman of the Committee on Cities, who reported the bill favorably. Theodore Moss is the well-known treasurer of Wallacks Theatre, He is a County Democracy man of the Twenty-first district, and father-in-law of Maurice B. Flynn.

Charles E. Loew is a brother of Comptroller Loew, and is a County Democrat. He was formerly County Clerk.

The Combination of Mr. Squire and the Comptroller against the Mayor occasioned a good deal of comment at the City Hail, and among politicians generally. It is regarded as an indication of rebailion on the part of the County Democracy leaders against the attempt of the Mayor to get control of the County Democracy organization in the interest of his own nomination for Governor. The salary of the Commissioners is $5.000 a year, and the work is required to be done within two years. The Commissioners have discretionary power as to what wires shall be required to be placed under ground, and are the judges of what plan shall be adopted. The original bill introduced by Senator Daiy provided that the appointments should be made by the Mayor alone. It is understood that the Republicans increased the number of the Commissioners, and passed the bill with the express understanding that there should be made by the Mayor alone. It is understood that the Republicans increased the number of the Commissioners, and passed the bill with the expressed his decided disapproval of the selection of the gentleman named by his colleagues, and said he preferred to have more practical business men. TRYING ARTIST LA FARGE.

Artists Testify that he Was Right in Retain-

The trial of Artist John La Farge on a charge of larceny, in retaining photographs and drawings, valued at $3,750, claimed by the La Farge Decorative Art Company, was con-tinued in the Yorkville Police Court yesterday. William A. Williams of 1,555 Broadway, an artist, said, on cross-examination, that he had worked for Mr. La Farge. He had seen the photographs for the Ames window, called Help, Need, and Sorrow, and the photograph called Andromache for the Harvard window. called Andromache for the Harvard window. He said that models posed more or less nude for the photographs, and it was alwars understood that the artist should retain them, and under no circumstances allow them to go before the public.

Mr. John Johnston, an artist, formerly in La Farge's employ, testified that these photographs were generally kept apart from others.

O'Brien Lifts the Anvil.

Patrick O'Brien, the Irish Hercules, was promptly on time at the Police Gaselle office yesterday afternoon, prepared to lift the 158-pound anyll. He took hold of it with both hands and raised it well above his nead. He lowered it to his chest, and again raised it heat. He lowered it to his chest, and again raised it. Then he placed it upon the floor, and, with a face flushed by the exertion, he looked around for applause. He grit very little. John Patterson, a rather small athlets, said there was nothing in it, and, stepping forward, he seized the anvil and raised it twice above his lend quite as early as the Heroites had one. Alexander Jordan, a colored porter at the Ackanded Jordan, a colored porter at the Grand Central Depot, was going up town on a Sixth avenue horse car on Thursday afternoon. He had a tencenteigar, and he was smoking it on the front platform, the driver told him to quit smoking. He put the cigar out and saved the stub to smoke afterward. The conductor said the odor was offensive, and he put Jordan ductor said the odor was offensive, and he put Jordan of the car and asked a policeman to arrest him. The policeman wouldn't do it. Jordan has brought suit against the car company for $1,000.

Bathing at Staten Island.

In former times, before the oil works were established at Hergen Point, bathing was very popular in the Kill you Kull, and bathing houses dotted the north shore of Staten Island. Now, at slack tide, oil and refuse float over from the New Jersey shore and make the water very disscreeable. When the tide is running in or out the oil is unable to reach the island, and bath-ing is good, although the swiftness of the tide makes it dangerous. At times the wind carries the smoke of the refuseries over the island, making a disagreeable smell.

Fired at a Mosquito and Hit Lazy Joe. Max Trager, a pocketbook maker, of Rahway, N. J., filled himself with the popular beverage of his adopted State and made things lively in Norfolk street subject class and make limings lively in across street yesterday morning. He thoughthe was puryuing a Jer-sey mo-quito, and fired a buildog revolver at it. The builet struck a man called Lany Joe. He was not seri-ously hurt, and was too lany to walk to Essex Market and make complaint against Max, who was held in de-fault of $100 ball for firing a pistol in the street.

Free Sons of Israel in Harlem River Park. The taint of scrofula in the blood should be got rid of a regions consequences may result. Consumption is having running sores on my leg. After taking one bound having running sores on my leg. After taking one bound having running sores on my leg. After taking one bound a region of Blood's Sarsaparilla I am getting well rapidly. —Ask may be cured by purifying the blood and building up the system. For this Hood's Barasuarilla is unequalled. It also cures acrofula when it appears in the form of running sores, boils, bunches in the neck, catarrh, or in any other manner. While it purifies, tlood's Sarasparilla also vitalizes and enriches the blood.
